Psychology for a Digital World

Psychology is defined as the scientific study of behaviour and mental processes. Psychology looks at the person, the mind, thoughts, emotions and behaviour using scientific methods. As our society continues to progress with technology, it is evident that a large percentage of our lives are online - how technology influences our thoughts and behavior, and ultimately how it shapes us as individuals and as a society are key focus areas for human behaviour experts today.

As the modern society places more emphasis on mental health and psychological wellbeing, there is no better time for you to consider a career in psychology. You can explore careers in education, social services, human resources, training & consultancy, social science researcher, counterintelligence analyst, social media threat analyst etc.

As a graduate of the APU Bachelor of Science (Honours) in Psychology programme or the APU/DMU dual award Bachelor of Science (Honours) in Psychology programme, you will be equipped with knowledge from technology-infused psychology modules such as cyberpsychology, which is a scientific inter-disciplinary domain that focuses on the psychological phenomena which emerge because of human interaction with digital technology. Because here at APU we believe that in this digital era, a career in human mental health will require both the human touch like structuring of mental health assessments as well as technological know-how, using modern technology tools for psychology assessments and analysis. This will offer you a stronger edge in the modern and technology-driven world, in addition to the more conventional psychology teaching.

The BSc (Hons) in Psychology programme is specifically designed to provide a solid understanding of psychology and its concepts in the contemporary environment for students to be able to articulate what they have learned as a human scientist. This three-year undergraduate programme will provide a clear understanding of the human mind, behaviour, and different types of personalities. This programme is offered as a Dual degree programme in partnership with De Montfort University (DMU) and is recognised both locally and internationally.

PSYCHOLOGY FOR A DIGITAL WORLD

Digital Mental Health Tools

Social media is about sociology and psychology, more than technology.

- Brian Solis

Science and technology multiply around us. To an increasing extent they dictate the languages in which we speak and think. Either we use those languages, or we remain mute.

- J.G. Ballard

Breaking the Psychology Barrier

"Employment for all psychologists is expected to grow by 14% in the decade from 2016-2026, which is faster than average."

- Bureau of Labor Statistics, US

"Insufficient number of psychologists in Malaysia. The counsellor-to-individual ratio is 1:52,000 when the ratio should be 1:500."

- Tan Sri Dato' Seri Dr. Noor Hisham, Director-General of Health Malaysia

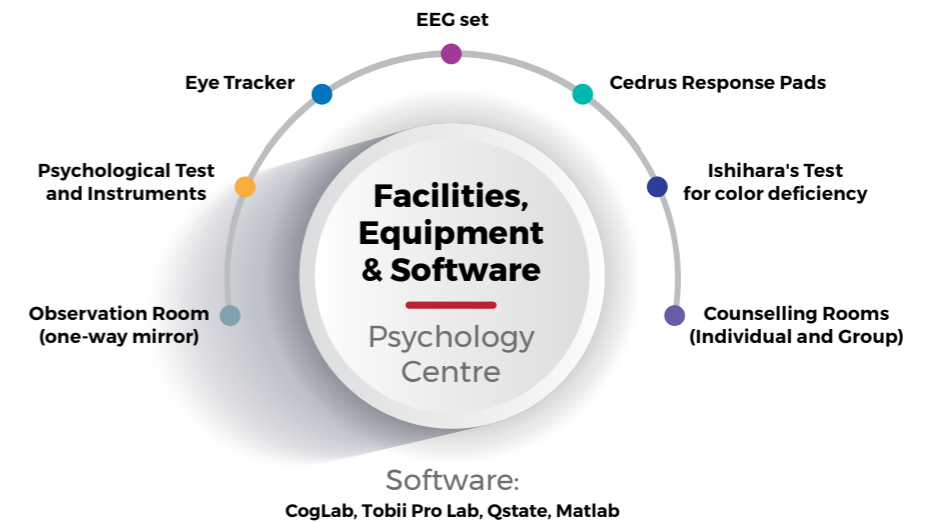

"There are not enough clinical psychologists to go around in Malaysia. If someone needs to see a mental health professional, the waiting period can be between eight months and a year."

- Dr Nur Anuar Abdul Muthalib, 2017, Vice President of Yayasan Hasanah

What is distinctive about this programme?

The psychology programme at APU is designed to produce graduates who are ready for a career in the fields of psychology, with the added advantage of having specialized knowledge to accurately identify and utilize technology to aid the field of mental health and enable enhanced understanding of human behaviour. Students learn about how psychology is evolving through practical and theoretical understanding of human behaviour and mental health. The Psychology Centre is also equipped with high tech equipment and software that students have the advantage of using in practical lab sessions.

BREAKING THE PSYCHOLOGY BARRIER

CENTRE FOR PSYCHOLOGY AND WELL-BEING

In Malaysia, mental disorders are estimated to be responsible for about 8.6% of total DALYs. National Health Morbidity Survey in 2015 reported the prevalence of mental health problems among adults and children were 29.2% and 12.1% respectively. The prevalence of suicidal attempts was apparently increasing.
